

Questions can save lives.
That's why we ask everyone about their substance use.

BC has an overdose epidemic, but we can't know who may be most at risk. As part of our routine assessment, we ask everyone about their substance use to give you the best care possible.

Thank you for understanding.

We can't see substance use.

It could affect anyone, so we ask everyone.

Dealing with overdose is our daily reality. As part of our routine assessment, we ask questions about substance use to give you the best care possible.

Thank you for understanding.

Substance use

Just one last question.

Dealing with overdose is our daily reality. As part of our routine assessment, we ask questions about substance use to give you the best care possible.

Thank you for understanding.
